Greetings Fellow Investors,

The Dow and The S & P have recently hit all time highs. Have you participated in this historic rally? Many analysts are predicting small cap stocks could have a run and play catch up. The animal spirits are in the air and investors are looking for something to sink their teeth into.

The experienced public company leader David Lucatch has just launched his latest company. When his company Intertainment Media (INT.V) launched Ortsbo Beta, the stock went from pennies to $3.35 on extreme volume of 200 million shares. Well, YPPN is his very next one. And guess what ... They are about to launch Yappn Beta. You could have potentially made yourself 21 times your money on his last one. Are you going to miss this one?

REASONS TO BUY THIS STOCK

- 1 If YPPN achieves just a mere 1% of Facebook's success the stock will be trading at $4.60 a share. A big move for just 1% of the attention.
- 2 The founders last company, Intertainment Media, Inc. (INT.V) went from pennies to $3.35 a share on huge volume while Ortsbo was Beta. YPPN is about to go Beta.
- 3 YPPN is the evolution of Ortsbo. It is the final vision of using Ortsbo to its fullest potential of community and e-commerce.
- 4 Ortsbo's growth was staggering and it caught the attention of Google, Microsoft, and Yahoo. YPPN is next.
- 5 Yappn is not trying to replace facebook or twitter. You can fully incorporate your facebook and twitter feeds into your Yappn profile. Making it so you only need one destination.

The management at YPPN is Wall Street tested. David Lucatch has experienced many successes and has overcome many road blocks while running the publicly traded Intertainment Media, Inc. (INT.V). That experience should not be overlooked as his last public companies stock went from pennies to $3.35 a share. That is a train we would like to ride.
