The New York Times

declares, "An antidote to aging may be as close as a nearby farm or the supermarket shelves: blueberries."

Fox News says, "Eating Blueberries May Ward Off Heart Disease, Diabetes"

Here's How You Can Tap Into This Mega Trend Now With PBFI
The Only Company of its Kind on the Stock Market!

Dear MicroCap Investor,

It's the treasure of the global food sector...

A virtual secret society that seemingly has kept its doors closed to all investors.

But, today, I am going to show you how to storm the walls of this secret fortress of riches with the help of a brand new company I've just discovered.

It's Patriot Berry Farms (PBFI)... a new-to-the-stock-market blueberry farmer with shares that trade for around 60 cents.

NEW BUY ALERT!

And, please make no mistake about it - globally, demand for blueberries is in overdrive - because of that, the blueberry market is so robust that PBFI's shares could begin soaring this year.

This mega trend is driven by two significant factors

1) Science and medicine agree that blueberries contain special properties that delay the effects of aging - or as a NewsMax headline declared, "Blueberries Beat Brain Aging."

2) Publicly traded companies that cater to virtuous, healthy lifestyles - runners, bicyclists, vegans, organic juicers - are rewarding their shareholders with significant profits.

- ✓ The global market hit 500,000 tons (1 billion pounds) last year, and the world is still demanding more.

- ✓ Patriot Berry Farm is an American company cultivating U.S. farmland.

By now, you know only the most stubborn investor denies that Americans' desire for healthier food is not some passing fancy... or a retro, hippie fad.

Proof of this is the stunning list of the stock market's healthy lifestyle winners.

- Smart people who saw this trend early drove Whole Foods Markets from $4.75 in December 2008 to more than $65 in November 2013 - today Whole Foods trades at 41 times earnings
- McDonalds went healthy in 2010 with smoothies and other healthful fare. Its stock is up nearly 40%, pushing past $102 in early 2013.
- Shares in Chipotle Mexican Grill, which features healthy and organic food, have ballooned 1,121% since its $42 IPO seven years ago.
- Tofutti Brands today trades at 169 times earning... it rose from 96 cents in March 2009 to $4.10 in 2010 and trades above $3.20 today.
- One of 2012's best IPO's was organic food maker Annie's Inc. Investors embracing the global health food craze saw Annie's shares soar 89% their first day on the NYSE, creating a market value of $600 million. Today, Annie's trades at 36 times earnings.

PBFI Acquires Morningstar Farm

Just before Thanksgiving 2013, Patriot Berry Farms acquired the Morningstar Blueberry Farm, which is located about 100 miles northwest of Orlando, FL.

According to management, Patriot Berry Farms acquired the Morningstar Blueberry Farm. The farm should harvest about 15 tons of blueberries during the coming picking season, slated to begin in April 2014. Prices are forecast to be $10,000 a ton. That's right on track for a $15,000-per-acre yield.

Multiply that by the 2,000 acres PBFI is looking to acquire and the secret of blueberry farming is suddenly revealed.

Across the globe, people have replaced the bad stuff they put in their bodies with healthy choices... some of those choices should help them live better and longer lives.

Because of that, blueberry sales rose more than 1,000% in the past decade and are forecast to jump as much as 500% in the next four years.

Patriot Berry Farms, a U.S. company, is the only pure way to move into this all-American trend, because it's the only blueberry farmer listed on the stock markets.

There's nothing else like it among publicly traded companies.

>>Buy PBFI up to $1.81 per share . . . with a $3.98 target!<<

That's because berry farming is usually so private it has remained off limits even to mega-corporations like Nestle or ConAgra. In fact, certain New England blueberry farms have even been in the same family since before the American Revolution.

Big money is the reason why.

Because there's an easy half a million a year potential on a 50-acre blueberry farm, typical established berry farmers make more money than most plastic surgeons.

This is the reason Patriot Berry Farms is on a mission to acquire at least 2,000 acres of producing berry farms.

farming is another matter all together.

Expertise rules in farming...

Because of that, PBFI is not skimping on the talent. It hired renowned blueberry authority, Anthony DiMeo III, as its Director of Farming.

DiMeo is a fourth-generation blueberry farmer from the "blueberry capital of the world," Hammonton, New Jersey.

He knows all about planting, harvesting, good cultivation of hundreds of acres of blueberries to market product for the highest prices.

DiMeo now manages the DiMeo family's blueberry plant nursery, which sells plants direct to commercial growers all over the world. The DiMeo Nursery has been in business since 1895.

The DiMeo family also owns and operates several of the largest blueberry farms in the United States that together total over 1,000 acres in New Jersey. They're mega-successful and wealthy.

Now imagine Anthony DiMeo heading up PBFI's operations with the goal to gear up as rapidly as possible to a 2,000-acre enterprise... twice that size of DiMeo's family blueberry holdings!

blueberries on its menu... the blueberry trend is that massive.

MARK DOUGLASS, AGRICULTURE
in-America Goodness

If you are like most Americans... home grown means a lot to you.

Especially these days when salmonella arrives in salad mixes from Mexico, horsemeat in burgers from Europe, aflatoxins in milk, the poison melamine in Chinese flour... it's scary.

This is what sets "From soil to sale," Patriot Berry Farms apart. It is setting up to become the rare major branded berry to stand by 100% American-grown fruit.

Moreover, mature farms creating jobs for Americans is the name of the game for PBFI!

That's why Patriot Berry is looking to acquire farms that have already proved successful... Farms with established plantings ready to deliver valuable crop in the coming market year.

So, PBFI's goal of acquiring 2,000 acres could be coming together quickly... ready to deliver blueberries right away.

It means PBFI is that extreme rarity in a micro-cap stock... one with a stock that looks as if it could be set to soar!

PBFI Stands Alone

Ultimately, when you consider Patriot Berry Farms (PBFI), focus on the fact that blueberry farming is a whole different universe... an investment like few others.

Blueberry profits are 32 times better than corn farming in Iowa.

Raspberries return about 367 times more per acre than wheat.

And PBFI is that much better than any other microcap breakout company you're likely to find.

- It is pioneering a new "public" model in the closely held blueberry business.
- PBFI's shares still trade around 60 cents. How much longer can they maintain that level is the only question now.
- PBFI's strategy is simple and strong... and the company has already started amassing its berry-

farm portfolio

- Because of its unique place on the stock market, PBFI could rapidly become a microcap with shares that could soar when the rest of the world finds out.
