* iTalk (TALK)'s bold introduction into the mobile market is personified in its iTalk Sleeve, allowing you to turn a regular iPod into an iPhone. Marketing the device to over 46 million active users is expected to increase sales to new heights... and investors who act now could make a MINT!

Greetings Fellow Profit Seeker,

It truly is amazing how fast consumers take to the next greatest technology revolution, whether it be an iPod, iPhone or iPad... these revolutionary products all have one thing in common – pure simplicity.

The largest and most successful companies in the world package extremely complex technologies into easy-to-use devices. As investors, it is important to take note of these revolutionary products early on...

Before it becomes the next big revolution.

When it comes to communication in today's world, restrictive contracts and virtual monopolies are fast becoming a thing of the past. Consumers are starting to wake up and demand fair pricing and better alternatives. Now there is one company that stands to profit significantly from this new trend, a company with all the right factors already in place.

“TALK WITH YOUR DELL,
APPLE,
SAMSUNG,
OR GOOGLE
DEVICE TODAY!”

You see, I recently discovered a little-known company on the aptly named "iTalk", trading under the symbol "T-A-L-K", with a revolutionary take on the future of communication.

iTalk replaces restrictive contracts with simple plans, provides upfront pricing instead of charging hidden fees and best of all, iTalk delivers a higher quality product for a fraction of the cost.

Very rarely do you find such a tremendous opportunity underfollowed by the market. It's situations like this that make millions for those who can identify a winner before the crowd.

Lot78 (LOTE) was one of these situations and early investors made a mint!! Many walked away with MASSIVE 2,340% gains...

Investors who got in early on another early situation, Octagon 88 Resources (OCTX), walked away 213% richer in less than two months!

And I'm here to tell you, I believe iTalk (TALK) is next.

At this very moment, iTalk's voice and data coverage is nationwide across 12,900 cities and its current infrastructure can support a total user base of over 280 million people. That's a huge market, a potential for instantaneous revenue growth unlike any company I've ever seen before.

The company currently markets its iTalk Sleeve product to over 46 million active iPod Touch users, at $9.99 per month and $29.99 product cost. This spells out $5.5 billion in annual revenue after $1.38 billion collected in one-time fees – a mind-boggling potential of over $100 per share in annual revenue.

TALK could be the biggest Wall Street winner of 2013! Because, like LOTE and OCTX before it, this stock could quickly build fortunes for those who get in early!

Before we go any further, I wanted to introduce myself...

Hi, I'm David Cardella, editor of Profit Seeker Online – and while I may not have a "crystal ball", 3 months ago, I brought OCTX to the public's attention – and those who took advantage of my advance notification pocketed fast 213% profits.

Since then, I've been keeping my eye out for another high momentum stock with that same kind of profit potential.

That's why I knew that when I discovered TALK – I knew I had to let only my most faithful readers know about it.

I've given you just a taste of why I believe TALK could be our next 676% winner...

But there's a LOT more to the iTalk story.

iTalk: How Early On Situations Develop Into Incredible Success, And Why Wall Street Just Can't Get Enough!

As I said a few moments ago, this isn't the first time a tiny unknown company has taken Wall Street by storm...

Several months ago, then unknown Lot78 (LOTE) burst onto the Hollywood scene when celebrities like Jay-Z, Rihanna and Oscar nominee Bradley Cooper started wearing their fashion – and investors couldn't get enough!! The company ran from under $1 to a high of $18.30 in a matter of weeks.

Interest surged for Lot78, and as word spread, the higher their stock jumped - exploding from just $0.70 all the way up to $18.30 - allowing early shareholders to pocket an almost unheard of 2,500% profit!

But Lot78 (LOTE) wasn't an anomaly, there is another small company that early investors ended up banking on...

As just 3 short months ago, another undiscovered company hit the market by the name of Octagon 88 Resources (OCTX)... starting at $3.30 and moving to over $10.30 within just 6 weeks!!

And just like Lot78 – the new exposure quickly drove shares of Octagon 88 Resources from $3.30 all the way up to $10.33 in less than 6 weeks of trading – and I brought it to you FIRST!

Now, it seems like lightning is about to strike for a THIRD time, as iTalk (TALK) is following in Lot78's and Octagon 88's footsteps as their products could soon spark the next technology revolution!

Consumers looking for higher quality alternatives and better pricing will be flocking to iTalk's products – which means TALK could be the next technology stock to surge 676% as consumer demand drive sales through the roof!

Making now the PERFECT time for investors to get in before this unknown stock takes off like Lot78 and Octagon 88 did before it...

And made early investors RICH in the process!

However, unlike its predecessors, TALK's three-pronged profit attack could have you pocketing even MORE money...

Undercutting Carriers: The First Way TALK Plans To Put $$$ In Shareholders Pockets

The first part of TALK's profit attack starts where one would guess...

By leveraging Voice over IP (VoIP) technology, iTalk is able to deliver a higher quality service at a fraction of the cost of the major carriers.

Already, iTalk's superior pricing plans are available to consumers packaged with Apple, Samsung

As time goes on, carriers will lose more control to software providers.

Network providers like AT&T, Verizon and Vodafone were once the kings of mobile telephony, each with their own, profitable empire, a one-stop-shop for subscribing to a mobile phone and broadband.

Now their power is being circumvented in all sorts of ways: new players like FreedomPop are providing cheaper WiFi access for the home, mobile messaging companies like WhatsApp and GroupMe are eating away at their SMS revenues.

Meanwhile, Internet giants know far more about users than the providers like AT&T, who were once king of user information like billing and network habits. Now Facebook, Apple, Google and smaller app developers are collecting nuanced details like location data and address-book info, and across a wider breadth of people (more than a billion in the case of Facebook).

We'll always need network carriers like AT&T, but signs point to them going the way of regulated utilities like your electric and water company, rather than service providers that know everything about you.

Today the smartest machine in many homes, besides a desktop computer or laptop, is a smartphone.

More devices will go mobile, augmenting the very definition of the term, and the smartphone will become increasingly important as the "mothership" that controls them all.

and Dell products, a strategy which is bound to capture a large segment of the market.

Consider the choice between Verizon or AT&T and you'll find the pricing of iTalk to be far superior.

Unlimited nationwide calls for $9.99 per month.

Once you make the comparison, it'll be easy to see why this company could be destined for stock superstardom.

The best part?

Even with all this brand name power behind it, TALK is flying under Wall Street's radar, which explains why you can buy shares right now so cheaply...

But I can assure you, as soon as word gets out, you could bet that some of today's biggest players will be grabbing as many shares of TALK as possible! They know what happened to Lot78 and Octagon 88 and like me, I'm sure they can see it happening for TALK as well!

That's why we should keep this between us for now, let's lock down our profits first before spreading the word...

After that, those high-powered traders can buy as many shares of TALK as they want!

iTalk Sleeve: The "Investment Edge" That Could Be The Gateway To Billions in Revenue and Over 676% Gains

Don't be surprised if you've never heard of iTalk's Sleeve, most people haven't... yet.

But that's about to change, and fast. iTalk is on the verge of a massive product launch and its marketing strategy is beyond simple.

Because when you have a product that sells itself...

The smallest amount of attention translates into big sales.

Now multiple that effect by 25 million because that's exactly what iTalk is doing right now. Just a few days back, iTalk revealed it is working with some of the largest affiliate markers in the country. Their target audience? 25 million users.

That presents the potential for a HUGE spike in sales. We are talking about the potential of 25 million device sales at $29.99 a piece – do the math! iTalk's marketing campaign could soon bring an avalanche of $750 million dollars in revenue from device sales alone!

This is nothing short of spectacular for iTalk...

But that's only the tip of the iceberg!

The real potential behind iTalk is in its reoccurring revenue strategy resulting from each and every sale.

Just like a regular carrier, iTalk charges monthly subscriber fees to access its network. The only difference is instead of $150 per month, $90 per month or even $50 per month – iTalk charges just $9.99 per month for unlimited nationwide calls.

As investors, we love reoccurring revenue streams. With 25 million user penetration, at $9.99 per month, we can estimate iTalk's revenue potential at over $2.9 billion dollars on an annual basis, only considering its current marketing strategy.

Meaning that yearly revenues of $2.9 billion may be just the beginning for TALK!

Are you starting to see why myself, Commission Junction, ValueClick and more are getting behind iTalk?

This company looks to be going in one direction...UP!

And you can get in now, before Wall Street catches wind! Consider calling your broker right now and giving him the ticker symbol: TALK with your buy order.

It could be the most lucrative stock choice you make this year!

Starting With A Niche And Branching Out – TALK's Next Move Could Push Their Stock Over The Top!

iTalk's President and CEO, David Franklin Levy knows something about the technology industry, he's not some wet-behind-the-ears dreamer with a little startup money...

He funded a company with a personal investment of $48,000 and leveraged it into a $176 million global business entity with 1,000 employees, three international plants, and ranking fourth largest in its industry. This very same company went on to be known as a NASDAQ-listed, worldwide semiconductor technology leader – SubMicron Systems Corporation.

Mr. Levy is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest, Who's Who in Leading American Executives, Who's Who Registry Platinum Edition and Who's Who Registry of Global Business Leaders.

iTalk's CFO, Richard Fredrick Dea holds diverse financial accounting, systems and regulatory experience working directly with the world's leading telecom organizations has including AT&T, British Telecom, France Telecom, Hughes Communications, PanAmSat, and Retelevision.

AT&T needs no introduction, they've been a main stay for reliable telephone service since Alexander Graham Bell founded the company over 130 years ago – and to say Mr. Dea learned a few things from his work there would be an understatement.

But AT&T didn't just become one of the biggest communications companies on the market today by playing it safe...

They were started out of a bold discovery, the invention of the telephone – and the company did not divert its attention – they stuck with leveraging the magic of the telephone before later diversifying into R&D and manufacturing arms...

TALK is doing the same thing, by narrowing its focus on its core business edge: VoIP.

It's a smart move, and it's a sound strategy that TALK has already started incorporating into its business model.

Like AT&T and Lot78, iTalk started small too – producing quality and unique products – and it will only take a few short years for them to make a name for themselves in this niche market.

But as we can see with the iTalk Sleeve at a breakthrough price point, iTalk is on the verge of something big... and what David Franklin Levy has planned could push shares in TALK to the moon.

You see, they have plans to follow in AT&T's footsteps – almost literally – as their recent acquisitions have expanded their sights on home and business land lines, a highly lucrative and easily accessible sector of the technology market, thanks to TALK's focus on VoIP technology.

By expanding into traditional land lines, iTalk will have an even bigger presence in the both the traditional land line and mobile worlds – greatly increasing the company's potential reach at near zero cost.

And it's all starting NOW!

iTalk has already begun adding millions in revenue and thousands of customers through targeted acquisitions.

And as much progress as iTalk has made so far, it is only a matter of time until iTalk enters into the mainstream conversation – with consumers chasing after the cost savings!

But this is the logical turn of events when you take an established name like iTalk's recent acquisition, RocketVoIP and launch a competitive phone service that undercuts competitors pricing by up to 80%.

This move, could, quite literally make iTalk's revenues sky rocket...

Meaning shares in TALK could be about to explode! That makes now the best time to consider getting in. Waiting much longer and you might find the shares you can buy today for a pittance could be worth double, triple or QUADRUPLE that in just a few months' time!

Don't wait!

Why Some Of The Biggest Names Want To Work With iTalk (Here's A Hint: So They Can Make MONEY!!)

You know you're in demand when Google wants to work with you...

And this is the unique position that TALK finds itself in.

You see, iTalk's comprehensive marketing with Google Enhanced campaigns was just the most recent example of how technology companies just can't get enough of iTalk...

Before that, world-renowned technology brands, Apple, Dell and Samsung, were announced, enabling iTalk deliver its technology platform on their well-known and widely used devices nationwide.

Working with giants such as Dell and Samsung could expose iTalk to a huge portion of the total computer and tablet market share. In the first quarter, Dell was number two in PC shipments, holding 21.7 percent of the total US market. Meanwhile, Samsung is firmly in second place in the tablet world, holding 17.9 percent of the market share globally.

And it may just be the beginning...

For these four situations to come along for iTalk in such a short time, speaks volumes for this young company’s reputation.

Who knows who could be lining up at their door as we speak?

With CFO, Richard Fredrick Dea’s past history with AT&T, it wouldn’t surprise me if other well established names came calling!

That kind of exposure is priceless...

And just another reason why shares of TALK could be selling exponentially higher! They’re quickly becoming one of the “it” brands in technology – so it’s easy to see AT&T, Verizon, or any other big name come calling again!

Do yourself a favor...

Don’t wait on this one – act TODAY!

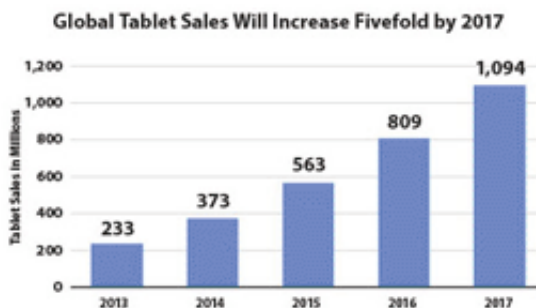

Why You Can’t Wait On TALK

There’s a really big, but simple reason you shouldn’t wait to grab shares of TALK...

Declining profit scale.

Here’s what I mean...

When I first brought Octagon 88 to the public’s attention, shares were trading at just about $3 and were still moving under main stream Wall Street’s radar.

But shares didn’t stay that inexpensive for long...

Just 6 short weeks later, shares had exploded to $10.30 and early investors cashed out with a fast, yet hefty, 213% profit!

That’s so important, it bear repeating...

Shares in Octagon 88 rocketed from just about $3 to $10.30 – in just about 6 weeks of trading!

This is why you can’t wait on TALK...

This stock has many similarities to Octagon 88, and could very well follow the same path as the 213% winner – but iTalk really has more in common with 2,500% superstar, Lot78, making TALK your best chance at building a FORTUNE.

Remember, like Lot78, TALK is starting out in a niche market before spreading their wings and expanding into other areas...

And like Lot 78, consumers could soon be scrambling to grab as much of iTalk's products as they can!

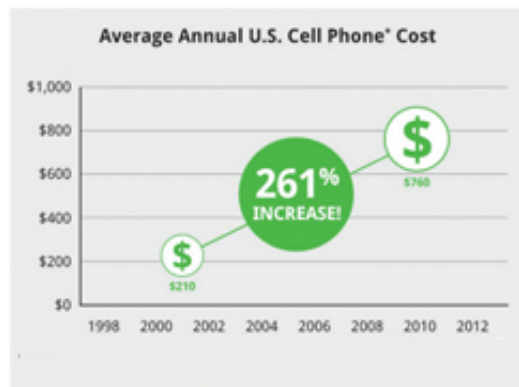

But what I see really pushing this stock over the top, is the simple fact that TALK's products undercut any other competitor on the market! There simply isn't a better deal in town.

Their iTalk Sleeve is a fraction of the cost of an iPhone, their VoIP plans are enabling consumers to save up to 80% on their monthly bills and their technology is available on some of the biggest brand name products out there. With everything going for it...

Now is the time to act on TALK!!

Don't miss out on this potentially HUGE, 676% profit opportunity...

You'll be kicking yourself when you read all about them in The Wall Street Journal!

Buyout Alert! Innovative Technology Firms Are Being Snatched Up At A Breakneck Pace! What A High Priced Bidding War Over TALK Means For Shareholders

Yes, we've yet to talk about one of the fastest ways investors like us can cash out with even faster profits...

The buyout.

You see, TALK is perfectly positioned as a huge buyout target for any established brand or company looking to add an innovative edge to their already successful portfolios...

Looking at how inexpensive shares are right now in TALK, it would be a smart move for these companies to make a move before this stock starts heading north of $30 – and by buying iTalk now, they'd be ensuring they'd get the most out of their money.

Even more, technology companies, like iTalk are a hot commodity...

Amid speculation that AT&T and Verizon may team up to takeover Vodafone in a $245 billion dollar bid, both have been busy buying up the likes of Hughes Telematics (HUTC), Mohave Wireless, Terremark, CloudSwitch, Alltel, T-Mobile USA, NextWave and a host of others like there was a fire sale!

Could iTalk be next? Maybe...

But with TALK's CFO, Richard Fredrick Dea's past working relationship with AT&T – you could make a case that his previous employer is in the driver's seat.

A bidding war between AT&T and Verizon over TALK would be epic...

←* BUYOUT POTENTIAL!

But could you imagine if Vodafone threw their hat in the ring as well?

What is certain, that if a buyout feeding frenzy does occur over TALK, the shares we buy today cheap, could pretty much QUADRUPLE in price just on rumors alone!

Once all the dust settles – investors who get in TALK, now– could walk away unbelievably wealthy!

It's one of the oldest success stories on Wall Street...

And it could be about to happen for TALK! Truly amazing...

TALK: Don't Miss What Could Be Your Last Chance At 676%

It's normally rare for lightning to strike twice in the same spot...

Even rarer for it to strike THREE times, but with all of the things that TALK has going it's way, we could see shares doing EXACTLY what they did in Lot78 (LOTE), Octagon 88 (OCTX) and Hughes Telematics (HUTC) – and that we could see an unprecedented run!

With solid connections to some of the biggest, most well-known brands on the planet available on iTalk's platform and an unshakeable foothold in the VoIP market...

TALK is as close a thing to a sure-fire winner as I've seen come around in a while!

Whether it's Dell, Google, or Samsung...

Or Apple, RocketVoIP or iTalk's own website...

TALK is getting a LOT of exposure – and it could be just a matter of time until this stock starts edging closer and closer to that possible 676% profit!

But even if TALK doesn't follow Lot78's trajectory, and instead takes the path of Octagon 88 – we're still looking at a FAST 213% winner!

Either way, I fully believe that early investors will have the chance to make a pretty penny – but in order to do so – you have to act NOW!

Do yourself a favor, consider calling your broker right now and grab as many shares of TALK as you're comfortable with...

It could be the best financial decision you make this year!

To Your Future Wealth,

David Cardella
